

We are part of Axel Johnson International, a global industrial group that encompasses over 120 companies in 28 countries.

FORANKRA GROUP specializes in bodybuilding products, lashing solutions, distribution of lifting products, docking equipment, handling and truck accessories, and aircraft nets.

- A leading European business group focusing on cargo securing and optimization, serving the wider transport sector (land, sea & air), OEM, and the general industry.
- Decentralized businessmanship with nine operating companies throughout Europe. Common workgroups in R&D, Purchasing, and Marketing.
- Approximately 90 million EUR in sales in Europe and globally.

We are currently seeking a new team member in Forankra Poland in Szczecin for the position of –

Design Engineer R&D

Under the supervision of the French R&D Director – Forankra France.

We Offer:

- Stable employment based on an employment contract;
- Flexible modes and working hours; An open and supportive team;
- Opportunity to gain experience and test yourself in an international work environment;
- Interesting training offer enabling the acquisition of new competencies;
- Additional benefits (e.g., vacation subsidies/holiday bonuses, medical packages, group insurance);
- Possibility to start work immediately.

Responsibilities:

- Develop and design prototypes while ensuring compliance with standards and methodologies.
- Analyze risks and opportunities in projects.
- Utilize design tools (CAD, CAO, 2D/3D visualization) effectively.
- Collaborate with the international team to enhance product portfolios.
- Use specialized software for mechanical and statistical analysis.
- Work on projects related to the implementation of new products, contact suppliers, and coordinate implementation with the marketing department.

Requirements:

- Degree in Mechanical Engineering, Industrial Design, or a related field.
- Previous experience in a similar role or industry.
- Proficiency in design tools (CAD, CAO, 2D/3D visualization Solidworks).
- Ability to analyze risks and opportunities in projects.
- Experience in designing prototypes and ensuring compliance with standards.
- Familiarity with specialized software (Solidworks or similar).
- Proficiency in office productivity software in Microsoft 365 environment (Excel, Word, Teams, Outlook).
- A good level of English is mandatory to collaborate with the team (knowledge of French is a plus).
- Strong analytical and synthesis skills.
- Ability to organize work and set priorities.
- Creative and innovative mindset. Diligence and responsibility.
- Developed interpersonal skills, ability to work in a team.

Additional Information:

- Business trips: 3 or 4 trips to France for 1 week each during the year.

If you are interested in this exciting opportunity and meet the qualifications, please SCAN QR CODE and contact us via OLX. We look forward to hearing from you!

